BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. Washington, Wednesday, April 17, 1807. The Executive Session was mostly occupied to-day in considering the Cherokee Indian treaty, and finally, at 4 o'clock, it was almost unanimously rejected. The Senate then proceeded with the nomina tions on the calendar, and went through the entire list, rejecting a very large proportion. Among those rejected was the candidate for the Brooklyn Postmastership, ex-Congrest ran Hunter, who was sent to-day. Another nomination cannot be sent in until day after to-morrow, as by a rule of the Senate all nominations are retained in the Senate one day efter they have been finally acted upon. The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs reported to the Senate to-day their action in regard to Ms. Raymond's nomination for the Austrian They instructed their Chairman to report to the effect that, in their judgment, no vacancy exists in the mission, and accordingly, that Reymond's nomination should be laid upon the table antil next December. On this question there was some debate, and without disposing of the matter the Senate adjourned. It will come up for consideration in Executive session to-morrow. The report of the Committee will undonbtedly be for adoption. No action was taken regarding the New-York Naval dicer, neither was there anything done with the Revenue appointments for the several districts of New-York. They will probably be disposed of to

While it is generally conceded that the Senate will adhere to its resolution to adjourn to-morrow at 4 o'clock, there is still some doubt that it will be able to complete its business by that time. Many of the Senators have made arrangements for leaving the city to-morrow night, and it is doubtful if there is a quoram present on Friday, even if the President should reconvene the session. Senator Thayer of Nebraska will leave the city to-morrow night for Massachusetts, and will soon proceed across the Plains

Attorney-Gen. Stansbery; is said to have recently remarked to the District Attorney of Virginia that Jeff Davis must be disposed of during the coming term of the Circuit Court of the United States, which meets at Richmond on the first Monday in May.

Mr. Garland, Senator elect from Arkansas, received a dispatch from Gov. Murphy to-day, desiring him to refrain from bringing any injunction sait in behalf of Arkansas, as he had previously been authorized to do. The Governor says that Arkansas is ready to organize under the Reconstruction act.

The large amount of coin and bullion captured by our forces during the flight of the Rebel troops, near Augusta, Ga., in 1865, and which has occasioned much discussion and arbitration, being claimed by several parties in Richmond and New-Orleans, has again been the source of investigation. From the records of the Confederate Government and from other sources, the treasure is proved beyond doubt to have belonged to the Rebel Government, and not to Rich mond or New-Orleans banks, as has been supposed. From entries in the journal of the Rebel Treasurer, and from the identity of 50 or 60 of silver bullion of peculiar shape, which were recognized as coming from the New-Orleans Mint, and from other evidences, the ownership of the captured treasure seems now finally established. Some days ago Senator Thayer of Nebraska submitted a resolution which was agreed to, calling upon the President for information in relation to the absence of Gov. Cummings from Colorado Territory. The Secretary says there is no additional information to that recently sent to the Senate, except the additional fact that the leave of absence extended to Gov. Cumnings on the 1st of December last has been extended to the 27th of April, 1867. The reason for the extension was the necessity of his attendance at Washington in relation to the Indian affairs with regard to Colorado. The Secretary has no knowledge in regard to the payment of salary which has been made to Gov. Cummings.

The practice of the Railroad Post-Office system has been to only distribute through mails, thus being of no service to intermediate stations. A change will be made in the entire system as soon as the details can be arranged, commencing with the New-York and Eric Road. On next Monday two daily distributing cars will leave New-York on this road, one at 8 a. m., and the other at 5:30 p. m., and in addition to conveying the through mail, these trains will also distribute at all the way-stations. When the system is completed throughout the country, letters will reach their destination in at short a period as though conveyed by a direct traveler, and much of the annoyance and delays incident to distributing Post-Offices will be obviated.

The Secretary of the Treasury has received a telegram from Selma, Ala., stating that the First National Bank of that city had been robbed of $160,000. The dispatch states that the money was lying upon the counter inside the bank in two packages, one of which was directed to the U.S. Assistant Treasurer at New-York, and that the robber entered during the afternoon at a side door and secured both packages. No further particulars are given, but as the circumstances are considered suspicious, the bank being a depository of Government funds, permission has been obtained from the War Department, and the Secretary of the Treasury has directed Major-Gen. Swayne to assume charge of the bank and investigate the robbery.

After parading through the principal streets of Georgetown and Washington, carrying flags and banners with various devices and mottoes, the procession proceeded up Fourteenth-st., where a stand had been erected, and while waiting for the arrival of Gov. Morton of Indiana who had been sent for, the participants were addressed by John I. Johnson, a barber at the House of Repre sentatives, and by John A. Furgusco and Beverly Tucker (colored) of Georgetown, and by Mayor Welsh of the latter place. Gov. Morton left the Senate to first and the right of suffrage after first and the right of suffrage afterward. When they answered these questions, they could easily determine how to vote. The orator pressed upon his auditors the importance of education and industry to fit them for the discharge of all the duties of citizens. The great example of Congress in making Universal Suffrage the rule in all the Southern States, must now be followed in the Northern States. He spoke for half an hour, and was frequently interrupted by applause. In conclusion he said, the event they were celebrating must ever be a great one n their lives, and they foust from it learn to love liberty as a principle and as an inheritance due to all without distinction of race or color. The audience vas then addressed by C. B. Purvis (colored) of Georgetown, after which the line was reformed, and the procession returned to Georgetown, passing through the grounds of the Executive Mansion, and loudly cheering on the way.

IEVISION OF THE RULES OF THE SENATE.

On motion of Mr. FESSENDEN (Rep., Me.) it was Resolved. That a Committee of three be appointed to revise the raics of the Senate, and report thereon at the sate assistant.

The PRESIDENT appointed Messrs. Anthony (Rep., R. L.), Pomeroy (Rep., Kansas), and Edmunds (Rep., Vt.) as such committee.

THE BANKRUPT LAW.

Mr. ANTHONY (Rep., R. L.), from the Committee on Printing, reported the following which was agreed to: Resolved. That there be printed for the use of the Senate 2,000 copies of the rules and general orders in bankrupter, together with the form of the rules and general orders in bankrupter, together with the form of the the first rule of the act to establish a uniform system of beak-ruptey throughout the United States, approved March 2, 1857, and 1,600 copies for the use of the Supreme Court, under the tenth rule of the act to establish a uniform system of beak-ruptey throughout the United States, approved March 2, 1857, and 1,600 copies for the use of the Supreme Court.

Mr. CHANDLER (Rep., Mich.)—I notice in the report of the Associated Press of the proceedings of yeaterday, that I am made to say precisely what I did not say, and that the Senator from Maine (Mr. Fessenden) is made to answer what I did not say. The Associated Press report reads in this way:

"Mr. CHANDLER remarked that certain Senators sald a few days ago

Mr. THITON (Rep., Neb.) was not quite sure that the Schute, in the absence of the seasion of the House, could take cognizance of this subject, and having a doubt, he surgeosted it to the Schute.

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN said the resolution merely directed the Committee on Agriculture to consider the subject and to report at the December session.

Mr. TRUMBULL (Rep., III.) remarked, it would seem to him that the resolution implied they could not get a suitable commissioner without an increase of salary. He knew of no such difficulty, and was not aware that any one would decline the office on the ground of inadequacy of salary. He was not willing for the impression to go out that there was any difficulty in filling the office.

Mr. CAMERON (Rep., Pa.) would have no objection to the resolution if the clause relative to an increase of salary were stricken out.

Mr. POMEROY (Rep., Kansas) referred to the fact that the preamble to the resolution declared that the agricultural interest was of paramount importance; but there were other interests which were as important, such as commerce and manufactures. He never understood the allusion as to his side of the Chamber. He thought his allusion as to his side of the Chamber. He thought his side voted with the other side. He never could under-stand why the distinction should be drawn. Mr. DAVIS (Dem., Ky.) said his friend from Kansas was constructively on the other side. THE TENURE-OF-OFFICE BILL.

OFFICIAL OPINIONS-REPLY OF THE PRESIDENT TO

THE SENATE RESOLUTION OF INQUIRY. SHAPE TO THE TRIBUNE.

Washington, April 17.—The President to-day replied to the resolution of the Senate, calling for copies of any official opinion which may have been given by the Attorney-General, the Solicitor of the Treasury, or by any other officer of the Government, on the interpretation of the act of Congress, regulating the tenure of office, es pecially in regard to appointments by the President dur-ing the recess of Congress. This resolution having beer referred to the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Attorney-General, and the Postmaster-General, they severally report that they have given no opinion upon the subject. The Secretary of the Treasury, however, in his reply, submits a transcript of a letter addressed by him to the Solicitor of that Department, together with his reply. These contain all the information he has upon the subject. Secretary McCulloch writes to the Solicitor, March 2 last:

reply. These contain all the information he has upon the subject. Secretary McCulloch writes to the Solicitor, March 2 last:

"In view of the possibility that the commissions of the chief officers of the Customs at several ports may, within a few days, expire by Constitutional limitation before their successors have been appointed. I have the honor to request your opinion as to what legal provisions exist for the administration of the duties of the officer of Collector, Navel Officer, and the Surveyor during the time one or more of them are vacant, after the expiration of the commissions of the present incumbents; and in view of the maintence of the emergency I would request the favor of an early reply."

The Solicitor of the Treasury on the 7th of March replies that no distinct or clear provision has been made by Congress upon the subject. At first view it would seem to be a causus omissus, and that the office would remain vacant, or in abeyance, until a new appointment could be made. This would, however, be a public calamity. Such offices must, as a matter of necessity, be constantly filled, as the duties are to be performed day by day, and are different from most other offices in this respect. In view of this fact it is not to be presumed that Congress intended to omit a provision for the exigency; but, on the other hand, considered such a provision actually made. In many cases she haw provides in terms, that an officer once appointed shall hold the office until a successor be qualified, but no express provision of that kind is made here. Again, at common law, certain officers are held from necessity to hold over in this manner; but this has not, I believe, been the usuage of our Government in relation to the officer with his manner; but this has not, I believe, been the usuage of our Government in relation to the form the provision of that kind is made here. Again, at common law, certain officers are held from necessity to not over the manner; but this has not, I believe, been the usuage of our Government f

In the course of his speech he said the late war was begun for the Perpetuation of Slavery, but Providence ordained that it should result in the destruction of Slavery, and in the enfran hisement of the whole colored race. The colored people were now called upon for the ordained that it should result in the destruction of Slavery, and in the enfran hisement of the whole colored race. The colored people were now called upon for the fine rotes, and opposing parties here would all claim their suffrages; and it would be a matter of importance to the entire country how those votes were cast. They must inquire who were their friends in the past, who gave them liberty perform the cuties of the office; and I think the same action would be proper in case of the death or resignation of Mr. Myer. Perhaps, in making such designations, it would be advisable to select the oldest Deputy, provided there were no special reasons to the contrary. These pewers are not conferred upon you by any express provisions of the law, but they seem to me to result from the imperative necessity of avoiding a total suspension of the functions imposed upon you, to superintend the collection of the Revenue. It is, perhaps, proper for me to add that I have read this latter to the Atterney-General, and that he concurs in the views it expresses. I have the honer to be, very respectfully.

answer what I did not say. The Associated Press report reads in this way:

"Mr. CHANDLER remarked that certain Senators said a few days ago ther were willing to give notice to the President that if he senat is Copperheads and traiters they would vote to contrar them."

Now in order that there may be no misapprehension about this, I will ask Mr. Murphy to read from his original from the official notes of Mr. D. F. Murphy, as follows:

"Mr. CHANDLER—I think we are a little at feal in this matter, Mr. President, Certain Senstors on this gard. The thouse preclaimed a few days ago that they were determined that these offices should be siled. Joff Davis made his last speech within its walls. Gen., Conway, now engaged in organizing the Radical parts South, made a powerful speech, in which he dissocized the so-called Conservative movement. The Radical organization progresses finely, and the reports are all of a cheering character. Colored speakers, canvassers, and documents are much needed. FINE ARTS.

Goupil & Co. have received two pictures by Emile Lévy, one of the younger French artists, who just now is a good deal admired in Paris. One of these is the original sketch for his "ldylle" of the last Salon (1868), which was bought by the Princess Mathilde. It is a pretty little picture, but not much more, and would hardly have been spoken of out of France, and the France of to-day. Lévy is rather a colorist than a draughtsman, we should suppose, but we do not know that we can judge him by these small sketches. The other picture is far more attractive than the "ldylle." It is a scene in a Roman or Fompeijan garden, where two children, a boy and a girl, have come to a fountain to airnk. The fountain is a broad, shallow marble basin, set on a pilbroad, shallow marble basin, set on a pillar. The boy easily reaches the water with his lips and drinks, but the girl, even by standing on her tip toes, can only reach the basin's edge with her pretty chin. Her large straw hat bangs at her back, her light, sky-blue robe clings to her elender body, and no wonder the handsome boy water her back. hat hangs at her back, her light, sky-blue robe clings to her slender body, and no wonder the handsome boy is more intent on watching her than quenching his thirst. This picture is an extremely pretty, natural bit of childishness, and interests us much more in Levy than his "Idylle" had done. But he cannot make a mark in France even to-day by work so slight and purposeless as this. Another picture by an artist, whose work is little known here, Eugène Fromentin, will be found worth looking at, It is, we believe, one of the two sent to the last Salon, "A Nomad Tribe on its way to the Fastures of Tell." It has fine qualities, and with Lévy's "Roman Children" we have no doubt will remain here; such pictures easily find purchasers. There are several others; one by Bonnat, another by Rousseau, of whom we have seen very little of late, and another by Corot, of whom we really do not care if we never see any more. Mr. Cadart showed us the first specimens we ever saw of this much talked of artist, and this of Mr. Knoedler's confirms us in the opinion we then formed of him. His art is the merest affectation, and to pretend to like it is, also affectation,

A CARD FROM DR. LIEBER.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: THE TRIBUNE of yesterday published two tickets of the Sixth Scuatorial District, for the election of members of the ensuing Convention. My name is among the nominees of the "Conservatives." I observe the came list of nominations in your journal of to day. The framing of a fundamental law which determines the polity of the Commonwealth, or the revision of such a Constitution, is the gravest and highest work which can be set before a conscientious citizen, and it is proportionately honorable to be called upon by free men to aid in the performance of so dignified a task. It ought to lie beyond party distinctions. Loyal parties can exist only within the landmarks of a fundamental constitution. But our State Constitutions are themselves, in a great measure, determined by the supreme national Constitution; and, however free from common partisan spirit, a member of a Convention, while he is a member, ought to be, it is, nevertheless, necessary for the citizens who vote at the election of members, to know the political convictions of those for whom they vote, especially in a time like ours. Men cannot otherwise vote intelligently Plais dealing and manly candor are here as everywhere else, the best, and indeed the only true rule of action. I desire, therefore, to say through the paper in which I have found the statement in question, that I do not know what precise meeting has done me the honor of nominating me, and that I am not a "Conservative," taking, as we are obliged to be, the term in its very mis-applied yet, for the present, generally accepted meaning. I am, and ever have been, an uncompromising Nationalist and anti-Slavery man. To vote for me because I am a "Con servative," in the present party acceptation of the word, would be a profound mistake. Your obedient,

FRANCIS LIEBER. THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION ELECTION.
